Dear Dan:

Just an overdue quick note to thank you and all of the hard working folks at L-Tronics. We, at AMTI, finished another successful year and I know that, in part, we owe much of the credit to your contribution of excellence in electronic assembly workmanship.

AMTI has a commitment to achieve high quality products with customer satisfaction. It is imperative that our electronic contract manufacturer shares the same goal. You have continuously shown that your output exceeds all expectations. Your good work is showing!

Personally, I am grateful for all that L-Tronics does for me to make my job easier. You invite new challenges and never say "no". You have often done "specials" and "rush" jobs as if I were your only customer. The ability to work directly with those production line technicians allows me to interface smoothly and eliminates communication errors.

Keep doing what you are doing with your winning formula.

Most Sincerely yours,

David A. Walsh
